

Managing Your Digestive Health Webinar

The Canadian Digestive Health Foundation (CDHF) is Canada's trusted resource on digestive health. Committed to providing useful, up-to-date information and research to help Canadians better manage digestive conditions and live healthier lives.

CDHF provides science-based, consumer friendly content for healthcare professionals, their patients and the public, about digestive conditions and gut health, to help those manage these digestive conditions of which many do not currently have a cure. Millions of Canadians are suffering from and living with these conditions: many of which cannot be seen or noticed. Being aware of them can help employers and employees create a manageable, supportive, and productive work environment.
